

Who are they and what do they do?

The Scottish Building Standards Hub (SBSH)'s role is to support LABSS and all 32 local authorities by providing expert guidance, advice, and representation. We take part in consultations and working groups on behalf of the Building Standards profession, easing the burden on teams focused on day-to-day duties.

Through this work, we deliver resources and outcomes that provide lasting value across the Building Standards community.

What does SBSH do?

- ✓ Provides national technical services and expert advice
- ✓ Supports consistent interpretation and application of building standards
- ✓ Builds workforce capacity, skills, and professional development.
- ✓ Leads digital transformation and service improvement initiatives
- ✓ Working Groups / Stakeholder Engagements
- ✓ BSD Consultations / Engagement Hosts

SBSH Workstreams:

- ✓ Scottish Type Approval Scheme (STAS)
- ✓ Dispute Resolution Process (DRP)
- ✓ Information Papers / Best Practice Guidance
- ✓ Learning and Development
- ✓ Expert and Technical Advice / Peer Reviews
- ✓ Working Groups / Stakeholder Engagements
- ✓ BSD Consultations / Engagement Hosts
- ✓ Consortium Technical Working Group

Supporting Scotland's Building Standards system through collaboration, consistency, and expertise.

Want to find out more, come and join us on one of our roadshows in 2026, or contact us

sbsh@fife.gov.uk | www.sbsh.scot